

THE TIMES

GLASGOW, Mo.
THURSDAY, NOV. 7, 1850.

COL. BENTON.
We learn from the Jefferson Inquirer that Col. Benton left that place on the 1st for St. Louis.

What has become of the Booneville Democrat? Has it gone the way of all flesh?

VOTE FOR CONGRESSMEN.—The official vote for Congressmen, at the August election, will be found on the first page of to-day's paper.

Mr. R. K. McLean, of the fine little steamer Robt. Campbell, will accept our thanks for files of St. Louis papers.

RANDOLPH CIRCUIT COURT.
The November Term of the Randolph Circuit Court commences next Monday.

INSURANCE.—It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that Messrs. Perry & Bartholow have been appointed agents for the Columbus Insurance Company, and are prepared to issue all descriptions of fire and marine policies, on as favorable terms as the offices of St. Louis. This company has a large capital, and a well-established reputation for promptness and liberality in adjusting losses.

Messrs. P. & B. are also agents for the New York Life Insurance Company.

INCREASE OF POPULATION.—A friend writing to the Editor of the Jefferson Inquirer, states that "on the night of the 19th and morning of the 20th of last month, the lady of Andrew J. Grant, gave birth to three fine sons. The children are all very well. Mr. Grant lives on Horse creek, in Jasper county."

NEW MISSOURI RIVER STEAMBOAT.—The Isabel, Capt. W. B. Miller's new steamer, passed up the river a few days since. She is conceded on all hands to be the finest boat ever built for our river. Capt. M. is an old boatman, and understood exactly what kind of a craft would answer best for the trade. In her construction, all the improvements of the day are happily combined both as to machinery and model, while her cabin arrangements are all that the comfort or convenience of passengers can require. We welcome Captain Miller, and his polite clerk, Mr. Horning, back to our river, and wish them abundant success.

We are pleased to learn that a number of our citizens are making efforts to induce Capt. M. to put the Isabel in the "packet trade," between this and St. Louis, next spring. We trust they may succeed, as we feel satisfied such a boat would do an excellent business.

Rev. R. P. Holt.—This gentleman has been stationed at this place for the present Conference year. He was stationed at Brunswick last year, and is thus spoken of by the Brunswicker: "Mr. Holt has been very acceptable here. His strong common sense, his unaffected piety and his courteous deportment towards others, have won him the general esteem of our citizens. He deserves the good appointment he has received for himself and his worthy family at Glasgow, Mo."

Mr. Holt will preach on Sunday, at the usual hour. Rev. J. Lanius the Presiding Elder for this District, is expected here on Sunday.

"IS DIVISION IN THE CHURCH OF CHRIST SINFUL?"—A debate was had upon this question, in this place last Monday evening, by Elders S. S. Church and Rev. C. D. Simpson. Mr. Church affirming—Mr. Simpson denying. A large audience was present, and the debate was conducted with order and good feeling. We had not the pleasure of hearing the debate; but as usual, on such occasions, the friends of both parties claim the victory.

Whether or not this debate or similar ones tend to create brotherly love in a community, or elevate the standard of christianity, we think highly problematical. If division in the church be not sinful, per se, is made of it, and there is no greater "stumbling block to the world," than the pertinacity with which different denominations press their peculiar views upon public consideration.

BY TELEGRAPH. FOR THE ST. LOUIS PRESS.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 7, P. M.
The citizens of this place have tendered a public dinner to J. M. Clayton, late Secretary of State, which will come off on 16th of next month.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.

Mr. Sloan, of Ohio, the newly appointed Treasurer, has not yet arrived. Mr. Selden still fulfils the functions of the office. Allen A. Hall, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, will, upon the arrival of his successor, Mr. Dodge, from New Orleans, receive a Charge to one of the Southern Republics.

The President has announced his determination to enforce the Fugitive Slave Law, let the consequences be what they may; if necessary, he will protect the U. S. Marshals in the discharge of their duties, by calling to their aid the U. S. Army.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 31.

The remains of General Taylor arrived here to-day from Pittsburgh.

The river has risen nine inches in the last 24 hours. Weather cloudy.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 31.

River eight and a half feet, falling slowly. Weather pleasant.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31, 7 P. M.

Governor Johnson has officially announced the election of fifteen Democrats and ten Whigs to the new Congress.

The alleged mail robbers were brought up this morning on a habeas corpus, the Judge refusing to receive bail, they were remanded for trial. Several watchmen were shot on Monday night in Moyamensing.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31, 7 P. M.

The Union meeting last night was largely attended, and presided over by George Wood. A number of patriotic speeches in favor of the Union and in opposition to the slavery agitation and fanaticism were made. A letter from Daniel Webster, which the Herald says "ran like the trumpet-call from the mountains of New Hampshire, and speaking tones of thunder with the emphasis of lightning to the disorganizers of the day," was read.

Resolutions were adopted approving of the recent measures passed by Congress for the adjustment of the dangerous questions arising from the acquisition of territory in Mexico, and holding the Compromise as a fair one, that ought to be sustained by every patriot in the land, and expressing gratitude to those Senators and Representatives, who threw aside party prejudices for the sake of their country, and censuring those who, disregarding the will of the majority, seek, by again agitating the subject, to throw firebrands into Congress and the country; declaring the Fugitive Slave bill in accordance with the express stipulation of the Constitution as carried by Congress in 17-93, and signed by Washington. Finally, they protest against supporting any one for any office, who is known to be hostile to the present peace measures. The meeting continued in session until 11 P. M., during which the utmost enthusiasm prevailed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1, P. M.

Saml. G. Goodrich, it is supposed, will be the successor of the Hon. Mr. Walsh, our Consul at Paris, who has been removed.

Mr. Clemens, our Charge to Belgium, having shown a desire to return home, will most likely be succeeded by the Hon. Richard Bayard, of Delaware.

Serious charges are said to have been made against A. B. Corwine, our Consul at Panama, in consequence of which he will be removed.

Mr. Thompson, of Indiana, has declined the Recordership of the General Land Office; it will probably be tendered to Mr. O'Neil, of the same State.

Mr. Hetty, of Boston, and Mr. Benjamin, of New Orleans, decline the California Judgeship.

The Government receipts from July 1st, to September 30th, are $15,622,450, and the expenditures for the same time $8,480,954.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.

Capt. Johnson, of the Yacht Twilight, has succeeded in recovering the statue of Mr. Calhoun; the only injury sustained is the loss of part of the right arm but the fracture is concealed by drapery.

LOUISVILLE, No. 1, 4, P. M.

The remains of Gen. Taylor, were received this morning on the steamer Navigator. The firing of a gun announced the approach of the boat—the ringing of bells followed. And hundreds were immediately wending their way towards the landing. The wharves were crowded, as were also the decks of the steamers; the civil authorities and the military formed, and the citizens, in carriages, on horseback and on foot marched in procession to the landing, preceded by the Mayor and Mr. Crittenden. The latter in a few eloquent and pertinent remarks addressed the relations of the deceased, which, however, were only audible to those close to him. The coffin was then placed on a hearse drawn by four black horses, and the procession moved on, extending in length five to six squares. The sidewalks, house-windows, and every available spot in the streets through which the procession passed were occupied, and the stores for the time being were closed. The body was buried in the family ground, seven miles from the city.

SOUTH CAROLINA ELECTIONS.

COLUMBIA, Oct. 19th, 1850.

All the old members of Congress have been returned without opposition, except in the Charleston district, as follows: David Wallace, Jos. A. Woodward, Armistead Burt, Wm. F. Colcock, James L. Orr, John McQueen. The names are arranged in the order of the districts.

The following is the vote in the Charleston district: For Congress, city vote: Wm. Allen, 1676; I. E. Holmes, 881; J. Smith Rhett, 194; majority for Aiken, 795. Returns from other parts of the district, make Aiken's majority 1,000 or more.

Rhett was the "loud-voiced disunionist," whom we lately quoted. Col. John E. Carew, of the Mercury, said will be needed at present. He is quite sure that he heard either an Irish or a Scotch voice among the enemy—perhaps some disgraced minor. The Maine and Massachusetts men were dreadfully exasperated by the attack on their friends, and took fearful vengeance, and the deadly rifles of the Kentuckians and Missourians told with terrible effect.

The Alta Californian prepared for the steamer, publishes the following paragraph: There is a brotherhood of Kelseys living in Sonoma, who are among the oldest settlers of the State. These brothers have ever been at open enmity with the Indians of the country.—One of their number was killed some time since by a party of Indians, for cruelty to one of their tribe, and since his death frequent and daring have been the acts of retaliation and revenge visited indiscriminately of sex or age upon either Indian, manzors, or Indian braves, in the vicinity of Sonoma. The Kelsey brothers, we are told, started

MELANCHOLY DEATH.

We learn from the Warsaw Whig of the 31st ult., that Dr. Wm. C. Morris, formerly of Warrensburg in this State, was drowned while attempting to ford the Osage on horseback. Dr. Morris was 74 years of age, yet appeared to possess the vigor and health of a man of fifty. He was, says the whig, surgeon first in the army, and then of the navy of England, for forty years, and was at the battle of Trafalgar under Lord Nelson, besides being in some thirty or forty engagements.

Ice formed last night on the pools of considerable thickness.

THE OVERLAND IMMIGRANTS.

A letter from Col. A. R. Ralston to the Committee of Relief, dated Sacramento City, September 6th, furnishes some information relative to the overland immigration. After detailing the measures which he had taken for the relief of those whom he had met at Carson River, he says:

For Several days before leaving the station, I sought from every available source, information about the numbers and condition of the immigration still behind the result of which satisfied me that there were about 10,000 on the way this side of Salt Lake and Bear River who had not crossed the Great Desert, at least one-half of whom would be destitute of teams and subsistence before reaching Carson river. About one half of these immigrants were deluded by false reports, and led to take a wrong road from Salt Lake, leading around to the South of the Lake and uniting with the old road on Humboldt River, about 200 miles above the Sink. The distance by this road is greatly increased, and a desert about ninety miles long has to be crossed.

Most of the animals on this route perished on the desert, and not under the hardships of the road, but perished for want of water and food. Those who are fortunate enough to get over the desert will still have to travel nearly three hundred miles before they reach Carson River, and but few of them will reach this point with any means to purchase subsistence. I was credibly informed that several thousand persons, among them many families took this road; but up to the time of my leaving Johnson's station only a few of these (no families) had passed on their way in, thus leaving room for the fear that much sufferings behind among this body of the immigration.

At the time of my departure from Johnson's station, provisions were exceedingly scarce among both immigrants and traders, but I met on the road large supplies in the hands of enterprising traders. I think, therefore, the amount of provisions en route to the desert in the hands of traders, and the amount lately sent forward by the active benevolence of the citizens of California, may be sufficient to supply the immigrants.

The Carson river road seems to be the only road traveled by immigrants in great numbers, the Truckee route having been abandoned on account of high water and other causes.

INDIAN DIFFICULTIES.

A letter in the Alta Californian, dated American bar, Feather river, says:

I have recently learned of a desperate battle took place between the miners and Indians several miles above.—The Indians having been guilty of many unprovoked outrages and murders, the whites formed a corps of riflemen for their common defence. While seven or eight of the company were out prospecting, they were suddenly attacked by a party of fifty or sixty of the natives, some of whom were armed with pistols which had been imprudently sold them by the whites.—The men stood their ground, and were soon reinforced by the commander (Capt. Sanger) and some others who heard the firing and rushed to their aid. This little band stood their ground for three hours under a terribly hot sun and in a most disadvantageous position, till at last the Indians, disheartened by their slain, retreated.

Capt. Sanger was mortally wounded, and three others severely; the former was from Massachusetts, and the latter from Maine. Lt. Johnson started the next day with the entire force, and completely broke up all the enemy's villages or camps, and entirely routed the scoundrels, so that no Government aid will be needed at present. He is quite sure that he heard either an Irish or a Scotch voice among the enemy—perhaps some disgraced minor. The Maine and Massachusetts men were dreadfully exasperated by the attack on their friends, and took fearful vengeance, and the deadly rifles of the Kentuckians and Missourians told with terrible effect.

The Alta Californian prepared for the steamer, publishes the following paragraph:

There is a brotherhood of Kelseys living in Sonoma, who are among the oldest settlers of the State. These brothers have ever been at open enmity with the Indians of the country.—One of their number was killed some time since by a party of Indians, for cruelty to one of their tribe, and since his death frequent and daring have been the acts of retaliation and revenge visited indiscriminately of sex or age upon either Indian, manzors, or Indian braves, in the vicinity of Sonoma. The Kelsey brothers, we are told, started from Sonoma about six weeks since, taking with them their "household goods," with the intention of fixing their residence upon the broad lands that border on Humboldt Bay.

On their way across the mountains which separate the valley of Sacramento from the coast waters, they were attacked by a party of Indians, and quite a severe battle ensued. Some gentlemen, who arrived in Sonoma, on Monday last, brought intelligence of the skirmish, from which the Kelseys emerged unhurt. These gentlemen are from Trinity, and report having been robbed of every thing on the route, by the Indians, who are much infuriated against the whites, particularly against the Kelsey brothers.

We take the following, in relation to the prices and prospects of Tobacco, from the Baltimore American: The usual advance in the prices of Tobacco in all the principal markets of this country, the great injury sustained by the growing crops—that of Maryland suffering but little less than those of other States—and the increasing demand for home consumption, of the common qualities, cause much speculation as to the maintenance of the present advanced rates. The general impression is that prices cannot go much higher. This, however, will depend mainly upon the state of the weather for some weeks to come. The inspections of Maryland this year, it is thought by those well informed on the subject, will reach 25,000 hds.—the quantity depending much on the amount of Ground Leaf, of this year's crop, to be sent to market before the navigation closes. It is thought the present year's crop will not exceed 16,000 hds.—Others estimate it higher, as the injury done to the plants in the upper parts of Maryland, has been comparatively small. In Europe the advance in price has not corresponded with that of this country, and most of the shipments have resulted in heavy losses.

Under the impression that prices there must advance, purchases have been made in Germany on American account, in preference to shipping from this side. Some parcels sent to Bremen this season, which cost here $7 a $8, have only netted $4 a $5, notwithstanding the very low rate of freights. The advance in price this year is unusual. Inferior and common qualities of Maryland, which, last season, sold at $2 50 to $3, now bring $4 50 to $5.—In Kentucky the advance is still greater. Common qualities, which last year brought $3 50 to $4, are now selling at $9 to $11. In Virginia the advance has been quite as great. Shippers are not willing to purchase freely, as holders of some of the parcels taken some time ago are likely to put them in market again in preference to shipping them. The receipts from the upper counties in Maryland are not large, and consists mostly of common sorts, which sell freely at a slight improvement on former prices. The finer descriptions are less inquired for. The total inspections this year amount to 35,788 hds. against 40,597 hds. to the same period last year.

It is to be extended on to Booneville, and points above, forthwith. We have Telegraph poles between this place and Fulton, but are not able to say when we shall have wires on them, or whether the company are operating below that place or not.
